REGULATIONS

- For all to live in harmony, a healthy respect for God and fellow students must be maintained. The following are therefore unacceptable: use of tobacco, alcohol, or narcotics; gambling, stealing, cheating, willful deception or dishonesty; improper association with the opposite gender; use of profane language or indulgence in lewd conduct or suggestions; possession or displaying obscene literature or pictures; attendance of places with questionable amusement; possession or use of weapons or firearms; and undermining of the religious ideals of the University.
- Residents of the University dormitory rooms are required to maintain modesty in dress and deportment.
- The University cafeteria provides food services for all dormitory residents. No cooking is allowed in rooms.
- Middle East University is owned and operated by the Seventh-day Adventist Church and all residents are asked to honor the standards of the Church while registered at the University. The dormitory residents have regular morning and evening worship programs and attend the weekend church services. The Seventh-day Sabbath is honored on campus as the day of special worship. The focus is not only on mental and physical development but spiritual development as well.
- Further information on the expectations from dormitory residents are found in the Dormitory Handbook.
- If you are accepted into the dormitory, a deposit fee will be required to reserve your place in a room.

I certify that all the above information, to the best of my knowledge, is correct and accurate. I agree to abide by the standards and regulations controlling all residents on the campus of Middle East University.
